

MARKET CLOSE

Canada

- The S&P/TSX Composite increased 1.78% on the week led by an increase of 10.34% in the Energy sector.
- According to statistics, the Canadian economy shrank by 5.4% last year, making 2020 the worst year for Canada's economic output since record keeping began. The data agency said that although Canada's gross domestic product grew by 2.3% during the last three months of the year, it was nowhere near enough to offset the record-setting plunge it experienced during the middle half of 2020.

United States

- The S&P/500 Composite increased 0.81% on the week.
- The US created 379,000 new jobs in February, the biggest gain in four months. The increase in hiring last month was concentrated at businesses such as restaurants, retailers, hotels and entertainment venues as states eased restrictions on customer limits and public gatherings. As a result, the official unemployment rate, slipped to 6.2% from 6.3%, although economists widely believe the real rate is much higher due to data issues related to the pandemic.
